TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES:

National Breast Cancer Coalition
The Breast Cancer Deadline 2020

This year, nearly 40,000 women will die of breast cancer in the U.S.; it will take the lives of almost 500,000 women worldwide. This nation has invested billions of dollars in breast cancer research and technology yet the statistic[illegible] have not changed significantly over the past decades. Our investments have brought u[illegible] point where we have the knowledge, technology and tools to make a real diffe[illegible] time to leverage those investments to end this disease.

The National Breast Cancer Coalition set a deadline: Breast Canc[illegible]2020®, the end of breast cancer by January 1, 2020. In 1961, President Kennedy [illegible] this country to put a man on the moon by the end of the decade, and the Apollo program was bo[illegible] matter! Now we need to similarly harness our nation's drive, ability and passion to save millions o[illegible]

We, women and men across this country who want to see an end to breast cancer, look to you to once again b[illegible] this nation's leadership, intellectual and creative forces to bear on a matter of utmost importance to everyone, around the world. We ask for your public commitment to work with the National Breast Cancer Coalition to end breast cancer by January 1, 2020 by supporting Breast Cancer Deadline 2020®. Are you with us?
